RESORT BALI

OVERVIEW

Bulgari opened its 59-villa property in Bali in September 2006. The breathtaking natural beauty of this secluded setting is matched only by the exquisite design of Bulgari Hotels & Resorts addition to the luxury group which debuted in 2004 with the opening of the Bulgari Hotel in Milan.

The three key elements that distinguish Bulgari Resort Bali are its unique location, the blend of traditional Balinese style with dramatic contemporary Italian design, and the variety of services that have all been crafted with the same attention to quality that has always distinguished Bulgari creations.

The Resort is located near the village of Pecatu and the stunning cliff-top site of the Pura Luhur Uluwatu Temple, on the island's far southwestern tip. The Jimbaran Bay and the international airport lie approximately 20 kilometres north of the Resort while Kuta, one of Bali's most vibrant destinations, is a 60-minute drive. Uniquely positioned at more than 150 metres above the seashore, the Resort offers unrivalled views across the Indian Ocean.

THE RESORT

Designed by ACPV ARCHITECTS Antonio Citterio Patricia Viel, the Resort's layout and overall design incorporates the culture and natural elements of the location. The Resort has been built and furnished using hand-cut volcanic stones, rich exotic woods and refined fabrics. Natural lava and Palimanan stone are used for the garden and interior walls, refined bangkirai hardwood in the villas, natural green-coloured Sukabumi stone to clad outdoor showers, plunge and swimming pools. A collection of exquisite Balinese antiques and exotic art pieces adorn the entire resort. Furniture and decorative details, such as stemware, flatware, ceramics and woven fabrics, were designed and produced in Bali by a team of local artists and designers in collaboration with the Resort's architects.

A Bulgari boutique, a Balinese arts and crafts store as well as business, conference and wedding facilities complete the Resort's unique features. An impressive Hindu Temple rises on the highest point of the property, designated as a place of worship in accordance with the Balinese tradition, while, further inside, the imposing arrival pavilion with its magnificent proportions and masterful design welcomes guests.

The Resort is comprised of 59 villas with ocean view and the 1,300 square metres Bulgari Villa, and 5 mansions offering 3 and 5-bedroom accommodations. All accommodations offer a plunge pool and patio with secluded tropical garden, high technology features and an extensive range of amenities. Besides its unrivalled natural setting, the Resort also boasts sophisticated facilities, such as the Italian and Indonesian restaurants, the Resort's secluded beach, The Bulgari Bar, The Bulgari Spa, the cliff-edge Serpenti Pool Club, as well as the Little Gems Club for the Resort's younger guests.

SERPENTI POOL CLUB

The Serpenti Pool Club brings Bvlgari's most iconic motif into the centre of the Bvlgari Resort Bali. The Resort's main pool has been reimagined as a living homage to the allure of the snake, with each design element embodying its beauty and endless metamorphosis.

Set within Bali's lush gardens and open to the Indian Ocean, the Pool is a destination within a destination. In-house guests are invited to linger across the day and into the sunset hour with bespoke pool amenities. As the day draws to a close, the Pool offers the finest sunset views across the Resort. The Serpenti Pool Club stands as the pinnacle expression of the Maison and brings together Italian sophistication and Balinese serenity.

THE SECLUDED BEACH

Aligning with the Serpenti Pool Club, the Resort's secluded beach is likewise inspired by the timeless allure of Bvlgari Serpenti. Surrounded by cliffs and ocean, and exclusively accessible via inclinators and cliffside stairs, the beach creates a magnetic world. Reserved exclusively for in-house guests, this intimate oceanfront jewel features four pairs of sunbeds and a luxury cabana, all showcasing the Maison's iconic motif.

Tucked dramatically at the base of the cliffs, the beach is a hidden oasis where wild Balinese beauty meets unparalleled luxury. Here, seamless service anticipates every need, from chilled towels to curated refreshments. An emblematic extension of the Bvlgari Resort Bali experience, the beach is a secluded paradise waiting to be rediscovered.

L'ESTATE ITALIANA ON THE CLIFFS OF BVLGARI RESORT BALI

L'Estate Italiana brings the spirit of the Italian summer to the cliffs of Uluwatu as an invitation to slow down and savour the days as the Italians do. Along the cliffside, the two ways of living come together. The convivial warmth of the Italian summer finds a natural companion in the grace of Balinese hospitality, the island lending the season a generosity all its own.

The Bvlgari way of summer reveals itself in these gentle hours. Long afternoons pass from a freshly baked pizza to a cup of gelato by the pool, the setting without equal and the pace set by pleasure alone. L'Estate Italiana at Bvlgari Resort Bali becomes a celebration of the season at its most genuine, carried by Italian craftsmanship, the soul of Bali and the timeless elegance of the Maison above the Indian Ocean.

ANTIQUES, TEXTILES AND CERAMICS

At the heart of the project for Bvlgari Resort Bali, there is an accurate research into the history, religion, traditions, artistic heritage and daily life of the island.

The Balinese culture and architecture greatly inspired both the design concept and the construction process. The work of island artisans, who represent Bali's vibrant artistic heritage, has been incorporated in the project. All the Resort's accessories and details have been expressly designed and produced in Bali, exclusively for Bvlgari – from every single piece of furniture to the handcrafted unique tableware and refined textiles. Centuries-old tribal ceremonial antiques and exotic art pieces are on display in the Resort's villas, gardens and dining areas.

Local Indonesian art is the focus of the Resort's antique collection. Spanning from Stone Age to present, the collection includes artefacts, specifically selected for their vibrant primitive energy and former practical use. Original and impressive works of art from contemporary Indonesian artists also decorate public spaces.

The wide range of woodcarvings, stones, statues, pots of various sizes and shapes, originating from Flores, Toraja, Celebes, Java, Sumba, Nias and Bali featured in the Resort, reflect an artistic depiction of the local history. Woodcarvings and stone carvings are among the oldest and most traditional art forms, usually gracing pillars, panels, doors, walls, lintels and shrines of temples, palaces and gardens over the region. Chiselled mainly from the local volcanic tuff and native woods, the prime function of these artefacts has always been to entice and entertain the Gods.

Textiles play a significant role in the island's cultural life not only as part of clothing which every individual must have for certain ceremonies, but also as temple hangings and decorations on other objects in the vicinity.

The hand-woven silk textiles called Songket are made by weaving gold and silver threads into intricate patterns to create cloths intended for grand gestures such as public theatrical performances and ceremonial displays of status and wealth.

A unique collection of ceramic and other functional and decorative objects of magnificent craftsmanship is displayed throughout the Resort's public spaces and guestrooms. Exclusively designed and hand-made in Bali for Bvlgari, the items result from accurate research on materials, methods and production techniques. Indonesian and Balinese themes – ranging from daily life to local culture and religion, the arts, crafts, and nature – inspired the creative process thus providing every single item with a touch of history and meaning, strongly tied to the region.

Finely handcrafted with high quality local materials, the line depicts a wide range of shapes and objects, designed not only as mere decoration but also for indoor and outdoor use in the Resort's restaurants, bar and spa.

RESORT BALI

DESTINATION – THE BUKIT AREA

Once the hunting grounds of the Balinese royal families, the Bukit Peninsula is now home to some of Bali's most exclusive villas and resorts, as well as one of the island's holiest temples and some of the world's finest surfing locations.

Geologically and climatically, the area resembles the coastal regions of the Mediterranean far more than the verdant tropical landscape of inland Bali, a richly fertile plain surmounted by mountainous rainforests. The uplifted limestone plateau is one of three areas of vertical coastal cliff on and around the island and differs dramatically from the abundant surroundings in part due to its thin soil covering and lack of surface waters.

Although fairly isolated from the rest of Bali, the Bukit Peninsula is home to one of the island's holiest places, the stunning cliff-top site of Pura Luhur Uluwatu temple.

Roughly translated, Pura Luhur Uluwatu means "the temple above the rock" and legend would have it that the temple itself is a ship that was once turned to stone. Consequently, the temple is especially revered by the fishing communities in the surrounding area where they pray to the sea goddess, Dewi Laut. The temple and its three courtyards are protected by walls of white coral stone and parts are astonishingly well preserved considering the temple is reputed in some circles to be more than 1,000 years old. The tiered shrines contained within the temple, known as Meru, are believed to have been established by the holy man Mpu Kuturan, who came to Bali from Java in the 10th century.

In the 16th century, a second holy man, the Dang Hyang Nirartha, traveled to Uluwatu bringing with him elements of the Buddhist religion which were absorbed into the practice of Balinese Hinduism. At Uluwatu, he decreed that the site was the ideal place from which to worship the Gods and attain the state of Moksa, or spiritual enlightenment, and the release from the physical universe required to enter heaven.

The state of reverence and attainment is preserved to this day in every Balinese family temple where a single shrine covered with a black roof made from palm fibres, or Pelinggih Uluwatu, is used to make offerings and worship to the soul of this great teacher of the Balinese Hindu religion.

At more than 90 metres above the sea, the point at Uluwatu offers unrivalled views across the vast expanse of the Indian Ocean, uninterrupted by land from the Southern coast of Bali until the icy vastness of Antarctica. On a clear day, from the outermost courtyard, the tip of the island of Java is visible at a distance of more than 60 kilometres and as the sun sets, the temple is infused with a rich golden light and is one of the most magical experiences the island can offer.

BVLGARI

RESORT BALI

The stunning ocean panorama that encircles the Bukit Peninsula is one of the reasons for the area's enduring popularity with visitors. Since the 1930s, when surfers first discovered the glassy tubes of Bali's Western coast, the island has established itself as the home of some of the world's finest waves, the majority of which are to be found on the coastline of the Bukit Peninsula.

At Uluwatu, depending on the size and state of the tide, the perfect walls of Outside Corner and long barrels at Racetrack attract the best surfers in the world, often in training for professional contests. While the limited access and facilities of the area preclude the holding of major surfing events, there is no doubt that the quality of the waves makes Uluwatu one of the world's premier surfing destinations.

Further along the coast, the narrow rocky path that leads through a cave to the quiet cove at Padang Padang masks one of Bali's best kept secrets: a tiny picturesque beach that only boasts more of the world-class waves and adds a clean safe lagoon for the sun seeker.

The early inaccessibility of the Bukit Peninsula has parallels with the discovery of its island home. Until the 1500s, Bali remained virtually closed to the outside world. Although the island was in the midst of the most significant shaping of its modern persona from the 14th to 16th centuries, with the migration of the Majapahit Hindu Empire from Java to Bali, it remained untouched by Western influences.

The first recorded expedition by a Western explorer, an attempt by a Portuguese ship to establish a trading post in Bali, foundered on the reefs off the coast of the Bukit Peninsula and it was not until 12 years later that the Dutchman, Cornelius de Houtman, paid a visit and provided the first account of daily life on this island paradise. His description of the vast wealth of the divine royal court of the Dewa Agung, with hundreds of wives and thousands of followers, was enough to begin the fascination with the island that continues to this day. In the 1930s, tourism began to take hold, and Bukit was chosen as the site of the island's first airport, a decision soon found to be questionable as the site was only safely accessible in extremely calm weather.

Shortly after, in 1938, the airport was moved to its present site in Jimbaran Bay and Bukit was to remain largely ignored until the 1970s with the development of the Nusa Dua enclave of resort properties. Luxury resorts development continued in the 1990s and the Southern coastline is now dotted with million-dollar private properties.

Stretching South from Pura Luhur Uluwatu, the Resort's plateau is secluded alongside a still uncontaminated and peaceful coastline, offering a dramatic retreat setting.

ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGN

THE CONCEPT

The challenge for the Italian architectural firm, ACPV ARCHITECTS Antonio Citterio Patricia Viel, was to create a unique experience by forging a location which had to be true to the place and not a picturesque representation of it.

At eye level, the Resort landscape is featured by walls in Bukit stone obtained from promontory. The Bukit stone is a white coral stone, quickly turning black when wet, thus complementing the surrounding environment dominated by dark grey boulders towards the sea and volcanic tuff downstream.

Around every guestroom, there is a private garden, a pool, an open-air living room and approximately 300 square metres area overlooking the thatched roofs and the Indian Ocean.

The Resort has a twofold “spirit”. On the one hand, the quiet, private and secluded atmosphere of the villas ensuring maximum privacy to guests with the walled separations. On the other, a lively and sophisticated area welcomes the guests in easternmost side of the Resort arranged around Serpenti Pool Club with a bar, sofas along the cliff and an Indonesian restaurant perched on the plateau overlooking the most enchanting shore on the island.

The Resort is located in Pecatu, a wind-swept promontory 150 metres above the sea endowed with a drier climate with respect to the Peninsula. The vegetation is scattered, which makes the rocky and coral stone visible to the eyes.

A contemporary design and international style is revealed by the fittings of the villa rooms and public spaces. The bedrooms and bathrooms in each villa, the restaurant and some pavilions have doors and windows made of mahogany and glass featuring sheer Western design, though the materials are indigenous and locally hand-crafted.

Just one material and a single colour shade have generally been used for the structures, fittings, floors and details which are made of bangkirai, a tawny type of mahogany wood from Java – the domineering colour note in the Resort. Solid mahogany wood has also been employed in its darkest hue for the artifacts which have expressly been made for the place.

All the villas include two equally large spaces, one for the bedroom, the other for the bathroom with dark Terrazzo flooring, a bathtub and two showers, indoor and outdoor.

The open-air living room, between the private garden and the small swimming pool, is located southwards opening to the cliff and the ocean.

The Two-Bedroom Villas feature a large pool in the garden.

RESORT BALI

In the westernmost part of the Resort, on a slightly higher position, stands the 1,300 square metres Bvlgari Villa featuring two bedrooms, two living rooms and a kitchen. The garden hosts a 20-metre-long swimming pool surrounded by an extensive terrace.

Besides the cliff-edge Indonesian restaurant, the Resort includes Il Ristorante – Niko Romito serving a contemporary expression of authentic Italian cuisine featuring island-grown ingredients.

The Bvlgari Spa, at the heart of the Resort, is built at the brim of the cliff and offers a yoga pavilion, ocean-facing treatment rooms and a floating bridge stretching over a pond with Indian Ocean view for relaxation.

LANDSCAPE AND GARDENS

The landscape has been designed with an eye to the traditional Balinese yards and gardens. The terraces have been created following the ground's natural inclination. Typical plants have been selected, and the original woods have been kept and relocated in the new landscape. Frangipani trees, a ubiquitous presence in the Balinese culture, are scattered everywhere in the Resort with their white blossoms spreading their fragrances around.

THE MANSIONS

Bvlgari Resort Bali sets the standard of luxury hospitality in Bali with its 5 exclusive Mansions combining the ultimate comfort of private villas with the highest level of service that characterises Bvlgari Hotels & Resorts.

Designed by the Italian architectural firm ACPV ARCHITECTS Antonio Citterio Patricia Viel, these highly luxurious Mansions are directly inspired by the Balinese culture and architecture. Beautifully located in an area adjacent to the Resort on a secluded upland plain bordered by cliffs, the Mansions harmoniously blend Balinese style with refined Italian design.

RESORT BALI

The Three to Five Bedrooms Mansions range from 1,710 square metres to 4,400 square metres including a spacious outdoor area and feature a living room and dining room, a powder room, a fully equipped kitchen suitable for entertaining, a bar, a patio, a terrace and a separate structure for service staff. Every Mansion has its own garden and two-tiered swimming pool surrounded by sun decks and a gazebo with living areas opening into the garden.

ACPV ARCHITECTS Antonio Citterio Patricia Viel have aimed to harmoniously integrate the Mansions in their design for the garden, by creating spare, low-profile architectural volumes that blend in seamlessly with the landscape. The common areas are situated on the top floor in order to create a living room housed in a lightweight structure. This structure is clad with wood panels on the façade, which are rhythmically defined by a series of high windows overlooking the garden.

The private spaces in each Mansion are located on the ground floor, whose large footprint made it possible to include every imaginable comfort in the bedrooms. On this level, the views have been screened to ensure maximum privacy and relaxation for guests.

The public spaces continue outdoors in the garden, with the gazebo sheltering the open-air living room and the poolside area that offers some of the finest views of Indian Ocean. The elevated portions of the Mansion have been built of stone walls set in the ground, while the wood and glass façades open up the Mansion onto the garden. The partially terraced slope of the land permits direct access to the top floor via a broad outdoor staircase leading to the covered entrance porch to the Mansion. The top floor contains a large open space including covered porte cochère, a sumptuous living room, dining room, powder room, service pantry kitchen and elegant bar. Both master and guest bedrooms have a foyer, a study and walk-in closets. Each bedroom has its own bathroom with walls clad in warm-toned exotic stone.

Aligned with the rest of the Resort, the style of the Mansions has been perfectly integrated with the local environment. Indigenous elements have been blended and expressed with hand-cut local volcanic stones, the use of precious exotic woods and refined fabrics made exclusively for Bvlgari.

The garden and indoor walls have been built with lava rock and Palimanan, while the sophisticated nuances of bangkirai, a Javanese mahogany, give the doors and windows of the Mansions a luxurious feel.

The swimming pools, inspired by rice paddies, have been lined with the green hues of Sukabumi stone. Each of them has a different, free-form shape that follows the natural contours of the terrain.

RESTAURANTS AND BAR

RESORT BALI

Sangkar Restaurant offers authentic Indonesian dishes with a superior quality of produce, refined techniques and creativity as the fundamental ingredients of the Resort's cuisine, while the Italian restaurant, Il Ristorante – Niko Romito, offers a contemporary expression of authentic Italian cuisine featuring island-grown ingredients.

IL RISTORANTE – NIKO ROMITO

Il Ristorante – Niko Romito Bali offers a contemporary and classic Italian dining experience, celebrating Italy's gastronomic heritage through innovative techniques that redefine traditional recipes with authentic, high-quality ingredients. The selection of Balinese elements complements this culinary experience, incorporating exceptional local ingredients such as fresh seafood, fragrant Kintamani vanilla, diverse peppers, Plaga tomatoes, and other locally grown vegetables, many of which are sourced from the island's finest organic produce and seasonal herbs cultivated in the Bvlgari Resort Garden.

Located at the very heart of the Resort, the 24-seat restaurant is framed by a serene reflection pool and softened by ambient lighting, creating an atmosphere of sophistication. Open only for dinner, Il Ristorante – Niko Romito sits atop Uluwatu's dramatic limestone cliffs, providing an unforgettable setting where each evening unfolds like a performance, set against the backdrop of Bali's most stunning ocean views.

The menu at Il Ristorante – Niko Romito presents an exquisite culinary journey through a selection of tasting menus. Each is carefully curated to create a unique and memorable dining experience. SANGKAR RESTAURANT

Uniquely located on the cliff-edge and characterised by a more casual atmosphere, the all-day dining Sangkar restaurant proposes a creative kind of cuisine, combining regional recipes with modern culinary techniques.

Sangkar means "cage" in the Indonesian language and the term is associated with the various styles of traditional rooster cages that are used for lighting and restaurant décor.

The communal table in the heart of the floor space creates a comfortable and relaxed setting. The 60-seat restaurant exhibits a stunning 9 x 1.5-metre artwork made of solid teak wood planks and over 100,000 copper "nails" especially created for Sangkar by the late Balinese artist, Made Wianta.

RESORT BALI

The menu offers a vast array of Indonesian-influenced specialties, drawing inspiration from seasonal selections of organically grown ingredients, the cuisine is characterised by the use of local delicacies.

For lunch and dinner, Little Gems' Menu is also available.

THE BVLGARI BAR

One-hundred-sixty metres above the Indian Ocean's mesmerizing expanse, beneath a traditional Balinese alang-alang thatched roof and floating amid serene pools, the Bvlgari Bar is the prized perch from which to savour light meals, leisure bites and signature Bvlgari cocktails throughout the day and night.

The Bvlgari Bar's mixologists craft every kind of cocktail, from classics 'with a twist' to 'local' infusions featuring Balinese ingredients such as arak and rosella, including Oak-Aged Negronis and Aperol Spritzes.

The bar's ellipse arch counter is meant to recall the black resin bar of the Bvlgari Hotel in Milan, while a massive stone, entirely chiselled by nature, has been turned into a sculptural centrepiece. Shaped by the strong currents of a river, the art-piece was found after a huge earthquake in North Sulawesi.

Sitting alongside the adjacent Serpenti Pool Club, The Bvlgari Bar shares in its warm terracotta palette carried across every lounge chair and cushion. The setting echoes the Pool Club's iconic Serpenti motif by drawing the two spaces together into a single expression of the Bvlgari world.

Every day at sunset, from 5 to 7 p.m., guests are invited to enjoy an Italian aperitivo, with a selection of warm and cold bites to pair with the chosen drinks while watching the sun plunge into the Indian Ocean.

Afternoon tea is available by advance reservation.

PIZZA BAR – PIER DANIELE SEU AND IL GELATO

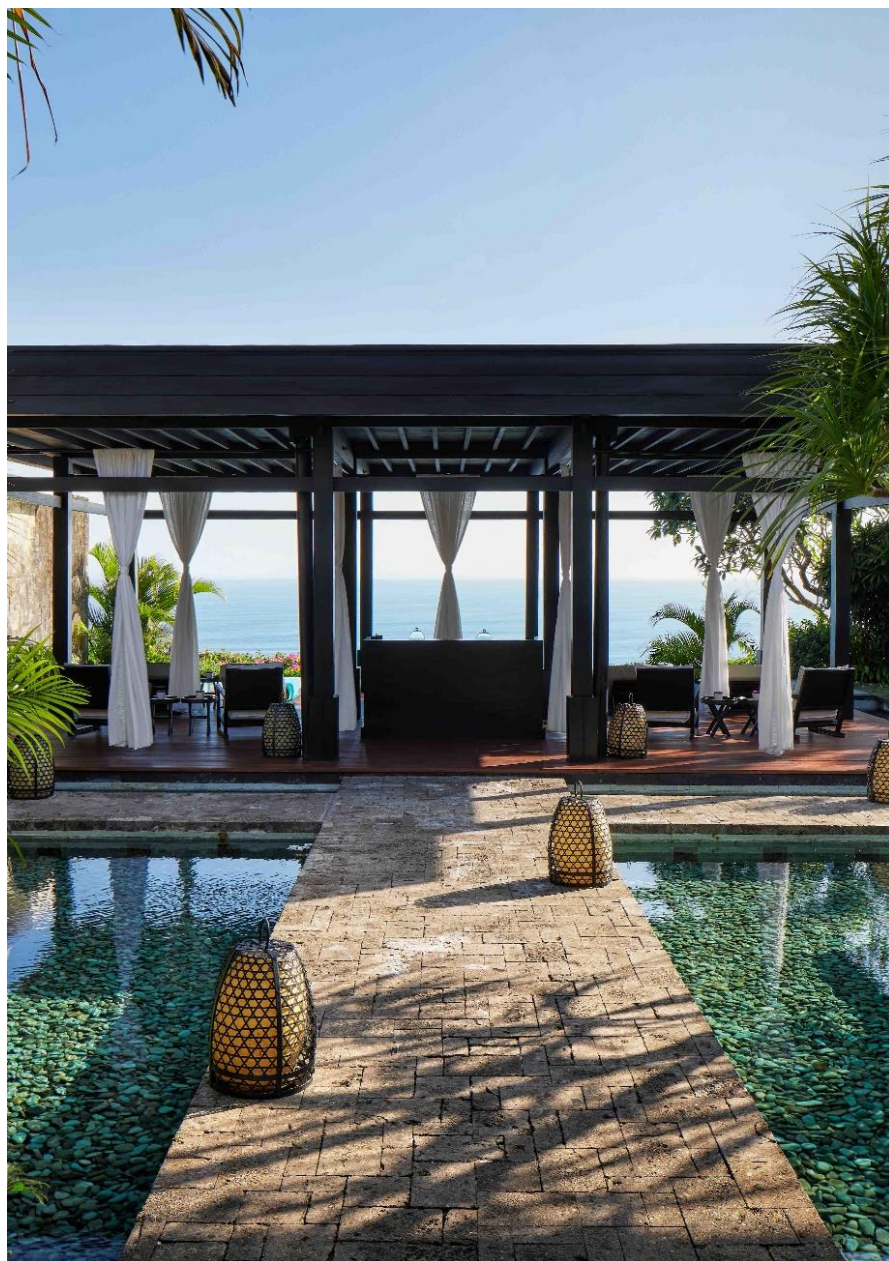

Pizza Bar – Pier Daniele Seu takes its place within The Bvlgari Bar, while Il Gelato makes its home at the neighbouring Serpenti Pool Club, its terracotta tones and signature motif a quiet signature of the Maison. Side by side, the two settings bring the easy pleasures of the season to the very heart of the Resort.

Further expressing the Italian spirit, the Pizza Bar meets Bellavista, a historic Franciacorta winery owned by the Moretti family, which accompanies the pizza tasting with a selection of cuvées composed of Alma Assemblage Non Dosato, Alma Assemblage Rosé, and Riserva Vittorio Moretti.

Il Gelato offers an authentic taste of Italian craftsmanship, with each scoop of artisanal gelato made from fresh, high-quality ingredients. The menu showcases a selection of Gelati and Sorbetti, ranging from the most iconic and enveloping flavours such as Cioccolato (Chocolate), Pistacchio (Pistachio) and Limone with Basilico (Lemon and Basil).

THE BVLGARI SPA

A unique space, exclusive treatments – based on traditional Asian traditions and techniques – are the distinguishing features of the oceanfront Bvlgari Spa at Bvlgari Resort Bali.

The architecture reflects an overall contemporary approach to design combined with traditional Balinese elements such as an antique Joglo house from Java, dismantled and precisely relocated at the site, as well as the same precious native woods extensively used throughout the Resort. The Bvlgari Spa features a prevalence of water ponds and large windows creating a blend of surfaces and chromatic harmonies to offer a modern and relaxing environment.

The entry pavilion leads to the hand-carved teak wood Joglo House, transported from the northeastern Central Javanese city of Kudus. The intricate carvings on the outer surface reflect the Javanese, Chinese and Arabic cultures as well as the vestiges of the old Hindu Majapahit Empire converging to the city of Kudus over the years. Further inside are the open-air relaxation lounge, the yoga pavilion and the swimming pool.

Six fully equipped treatment rooms and two Royal Pavilions with plunge pools, gardens and outdoor rain showers complete the layout. The Bvlgari Spa facilities include a beauty salon and a state-of-the-art Bvlgari Gymnasium, rain showers and aromatic steam rooms.

The Bvlgari Spa menu has been conceived to offer a complete range of Balinese, Asian and European therapies. The bespoke treatments include Bvlgari signature rituals, Balinese rituals, intensive Augustinus Bader facials, body wraps and holistic massages, provided by expert therapists.

The exclusive collection of Bvlgari signature rituals includes the unforgettable double Bvlgari Royal Lulur, a royal ritual experience realised by four highly experienced therapists (two for each guest) who work in synchronised harmony to deliver a unique treatment that includes a body massage rich in exotic oils and herbs. Other signature treatments such as 120 to 180 minutes packages are available in a sequence of stress relieving massages and techniques. A gentle exfoliating scrub made from coconut and vanilla prepares the body for an aromatherapy massage in the Romantic Harmony, while a massage with fragrant aromatherapy oils to release tension from tired muscles followed by an express facial in the Stress Recovery.

THE BVLGARI CHAPEL

The Bvlgari Chapel is the exclusive event venue offering a magnificent location for one of life's most precious moments.

Set like a unique gemstone in a one-of-a-kind location, overlooking the Indian Ocean, the wedding chapel seeks to enchant couples who aspire to wed within the exclusive setting that bears the Bvlgari mark of ultimate elegance, style and sophistication.

Designed by ACPV ARCHITECTS Antonio Citterio Patricia Viel, The Bvlgari Chapel blends with the Resort's overall atmosphere, reflecting a contemporary interpretation of traditional Balinese design and conveying Bvlgari's distinctive Italian style.

THE DESIGN

A place of celebration, whether ritual or joyful, requires both intimacy and exposure. The duality led to the idea of erecting a simple stone wall designed to protect and separate the space of celebration whilst opening it up spectacularly onto the heart of the Resort and towards the covered terrace. The wall is made of hand-hewn Paras Kerobokan stones originally from Bali. The colour darkens when wet creating an authentic and natural feel.

The black wall covering the external structure of The Bvlgari Chapel is made of bangkirai wood whilst the flooring is composed of Andesite volcanic stones that seamlessly blend with the Resort's overall concept.

RESORT BALI

Passing through the wooden door set within the stone wall, a dazzling bronze interior and the magnificence of the Indian Ocean view, revealed through transparent glazed walls, are a delight for the bridal couple and the guests. A tower lamp, reminiscent of the traditional Balinese Penjor, a curved bamboo pole adorned with coconut leaves, welcomes guests at the entrance. Indonesians are known for raising a Penjor at wedding celebrations to wish fertility and prosperity to the newlywed couple.

The altar table, made of glass, has been embellished with a hexagonal hanging lamp inspired by honeycomb. Should the couple wish to feel the ocean breeze during the ceremony, the glass wall behind the altar can be opened for a semi-outdoor wedding.

The Bvlgari Chapel is situated adjacent to the Pavilion Terrace. This glass roofed-terrace can accommodate up to 90 guests. It is the natural place where to continue the wedding celebrations following the ceremony. Hidden within the rich vegetation surrounding the Resort, The Bvlgari Chapel's semi-glass structure offers a view from the outside into the enchanting interior. The fragmentation of several glass panels on the side façade aims at keeping the inner space intimate whilst naturally illuminating the building for the function. A water feature between the glass wall and the altar further immerses The Bvlgari Chapel into the abundance of the surrounding nature.

THE WEDDING CEREMONY

With an unparalleled view of the Indian Ocean, The Bvlgari Chapel is at present open for the most exclusive celebrations. Covering 315.5 square metre floor size and equipped with the high-end audio-visual technologies, the Bvlgari Chapel can accommodate up to 90 guests. To further accentuate the intimacy of the experience, the venue can be bedecked with garlands of fragrant flowers and the aisle leading towards the altar carpeted with thousands of blossoms.
